

Matt Fracy wins WTC National Trials Championship- Advanced Class!
Press release, 7/29/11

Matt Fracy clinched the overall victory in the Advanced class of the WTC Canadian Trials Championships with two dominant wins in Morin Heights Quebec. Rounds three and four of the series were organized by the ATAQ on an excellent site at the Morin heights ski hill just north of Montreal.

In very hot and humid conditions, the Shawnigan Lake BC native, rode with confidence and incredible consistency for both days. Having only just turned 15 years old a few months earlier, Matt took his Mountain Motorcycle Beta Evo 250 and made the sections seem extremely easy.

Upon arriving at the site the day prior, inspection of all the sections made it quite clear that with the conditions the sections would indeed ride quite easy for Matt. This meant that there was zero room for any errors! Still, a battle of intense mental pressure would unfold throughout the day. Matt stayed consistent enough to take the win, but, felt he could have been better. At the end, only one point would separate the top three riders, with Matt taking the win with a total of only six points on the day. Matt also tied the Champ class rider and fellow Team Beta member, Jonathon English, for the lowest score award and split the $120 cash award!

On day-two the organizers set out to toughen up all the lines for every class! Every section was altered, and in fact two sections were ridden in the reverse direction! There were some bigger hits, and at least two sections were now more technical, which meant room for a few more errors if need be! Again Matt was the picture of consistency and rode like a machine, distancing himself from the rest of the class! No unforced errors meant two single dabs throughout the day, which put Matt once again atop the podium with an incredible two points for the entire day! This also meant that he clearly posted the lowest score of the day, taking home another $100 cash award, and the National Championship!

It could not have gone any better for Matt on his long trip from BC to beautiful Quebec. With this win it now signals the official move for Matt into the top class in Canada. At only 15 he is one of the very youngest to ever achieve this status! With his growing strength, talent, desire to be the best and the support of all his incredible sponsors the future looks very bright for Matt!
